July 2018 - Let me start the ball rolling (cuz I like to talk). Fred and I are moving to an age-appropriate new home – zero entry, no basement, more SF that we currently have, and a postage stamp-size lawn. Been killin ourselves getting ready for moving sale no. 2 and hope to be in the new place by Aug 1. We've been finding out that we are waaaay too old to work in heat for very long stretches. We had kids to help with stuff like this but one went to heaven already, and the other is working long days out of town. Some help they are.
